

On the 6th of June 2021, in the first of a series of talks and sessions planned by the Economics Society of DPSI, the students from classes 9-12 were given the opportunity to listen to, and interact with Mr. Shalabh Tandon, the Regional Head of Operations and South Asia Head, Climate Business at the International Finance Corporation (IFC, World Bank Group).

Mr. Tandon walked the attendees through his academic and career paths, explaining precisely how his garnered experiences and skills allow him to create significant logical analyses, which is a vital part of his job at the IFC. He then went on to explain the role of the IFC as the principal Economic Hand of the World Bank, along with the pertinence of investment campaigns undertaken by the IFC, especially in the spheres of Private Development and Urban Renewal.

This followed a series of questions from the students.

The session was widely informative especially due to its relevance to the course material of economics at both the IGCSE and A levels.
